++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Cloudy with occasional showers, mainly in southern parts. Feeling cold.

Today:
The morning commences with some thick cloud over the region, and some showery outbreaks of rain. The showery rain could turn heavy at times before clearing southwards later. Feeling cold. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Tonight:
Through the evening, any lingering showers will clear, leaving a dry night. Cloud shifts southeastwards overnight, giving clear spells for many, allowing for a cold night and frost to form. Minimum temperature 1 deg C (34 deg F).

Thursday:
A dry start with some sunny spells, before patchy cloud envelops the region, giving occasional showers and sunny spells through the day. Another frosty night, skies remaining clear. Feeling cold. Maximum temperature 11 deg C (52 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
More frequent scattered showers on Friday, and likewise on Saturday though becoming heavier in nature. Largely dry and fine with patchy cloud on Sunday. Remaining cold, with overnight frosts likely.
